

Can Mr. Wilson Become President of the World?

Plan for Selecting the Head of the League of Nations.

Can President Wilson become "president of the world?" Is he seeking to be the "first president of the League of Nations," or is he ambitious to take a prominent part in the league after he retires from the presidency of the United States, in March 1921? These questions are asked by many persons in the United States, but they are never even mentioned in Paris, for nobody over there thinks of any person as the super-executive of the new society of nations. And any supposition that Mr. Wilson will have anything to do with the League of Nations after he ceases to be president of the United States is based upon a misunderstanding of the character of the league itself. It isn't to be an association or organization of a private character like the American branch of the League to Enforce Peace or the Carnegie Endowment for Peace. It is not to have elected officers of a specified tenure or honorary presidents. It is to be a governmental institution and every delegate to it will have to be the official representative of the nation which selects him.

America's representation in the League of Nations will always be represented at meetings of the league by Mr. Wilson. It is to have anything to do with the league after he retires from the White House he will have to be appointed special ambassador by the next president of the United States. If anybody believes the next chief executive of this country is going to be a Democrat and that he will utilize the services of Mr. Wilson, then the latter may be identified with the league, but he would only have the rank of ambassador and would be subject to the directions of the man who sits in the White House—a circumstance which doesn't sound plausible with respect to Mr. Wilson, who is more likely to prefer writing history. If a Republican president is elected in 1920, then very obviously Mr. Wilson wouldn't be appointed special ambassador. On the whole, his chances of being an official of the United States government after 1921 are slim, and only as an official acting in behalf of a government could he be identified with the League of Nations. He might be selected as umpire in a dispute or might be asked occasionally to sit on a court or arbitration by foreign countries in controversy with each other, but Woodrow Wilson will have no more to do with the League of Nations after his term of office expires than will Mr. Lloyd George or Mr. Clemenceau or Signor Orlando the moment their cabinets over which they respectively preside are overturned.

Personnel of Executive Council.
The personnel of the executive council is not to have a permanent president. There will always have to be a chairman, but he will be selected from among the premiers of ambassadors who compose the council, and he will be chosen from among those who actually attend the periodical meetings. It is quite unlikely that the president of the United States will ever be chosen unless he goes to Europe. Mr. Wilson will come back to America immediately upon the signing of the treaty in Versailles, and before the league can become effective, a treaty would have to be ratified by the United States senate. Unless Mr. Wilson made a special trip to Europe again to attend the first meeting, he would have no opportunity of getting the temporary honor of presiding over the council of the league. As for a permanent job with a large salary and a lot of ceremony and plaudits for the remainder of his life—which fantastic idea of Mr. Wilson's ambitions seems to have gained considerable ground in many quarters in America, particularly among opponents of the League of Nations who dislike things Wilsonian—it is not perhaps amiss to remove one of these alleged evils of the League of Nations plan.

President Wilson's One Ambition.
Mr. Wilson's single ambition is to return home with a treaty of peace that punishes Germany and creates a League of Nations to prevent any other country from doing in the future the same things that Germany did. As he said in his New York speech, there will be plenty of glory for all the men who help conclude a peace in Europe. And, notwithstanding the glowing descriptions of Mr. Wilson dictating to Europe which have occasionally been cabled to the United States, the president is by no means the whole show at the peace conference. There are others—like Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Venizelos. Mr. Wilson, it is to be sure a dominating influence. He is a vital force for speedy action and compromise in delicate situations among the allies. He is recognized by his colleagues as having the confidence of the peoples of Europe to an extraordinary degree. The masses truly revere him as the exponent of democracy. They respect him for his (Continued on Fourth Page.)

Teachers' Pay Bill Presented

A new teachers salary bill, establishing a series of minimum salaries was presented to the House Tuesday by Mr. Woodruff Snyder, having been drawn by educators. It amends the school code.

The minimum salary list is made as follows: Holders of provisional certificates $60 per month, professional or normal schools $75; permanent $85 the state to pay 40 per cent where salaries are increased over 1918 and 1919 figures. Each teacher receiving less than $100 per month and not affected by the act is to get 25 per cent increase paid by the state.

Rural teachers are to get $10 per month increase if they do not come under the first provisions. The superintendent of public instruction is to decide what are rural schools.

The following increases are made on salaries based on 1919 figures; 20 per cent to those receiving between $100 and $150 monthly, 15 per cent to those receiving between $150 and $200; 10 per cent to those over $200.

The State is to pay half of these increases.

Money Value of Human Beings

Did you ever stop to consider how much you were actually worth, in the sense that you consider the money value of your horse, or your cow?

Bear with us a few moments and we'll tell you. The average person living at twenty or thirty years of age has a present worth as a bread winner of about $4000. This is the net present worth of his future productive power over and above the cost of his future maintenance. In old age the average net worth becomes a minus quantity.

The figures for different ages are given in the following table:—

5 years old, worth	$ 950
10 years old, worth	2,000
20 years old, worth	4,000
30 years old, worth	4,100
40 years old, worth	2,900
50 years old, worth	700

(Now it may be that since everything has gone up—and presumably the worth of individuals—some people may think that they are undervalued. If so, let them know, and we shall take the matter up with the Peace Conference now in session at Paris or keep your peace forever and forever.)

In short let us say that a human life has in addition to its higher valuations a money valuation simply as a money making machine. This is really the basis of ordinary life insurance.

Meeting of Sewing Circle

On the evening of Monday, March 17, the Ladies Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. John N. Minnich on Juliana Heights, the time being spent pleasantly in doing fancy work.

This being St. Patrick's Day, green was the predominating color, of the decorations. Delicious refreshments were served. Those present were as follows:—

Mesdames: J. R. Dull; H. B. Cessna; J. Roy Cessna; W. A. Weisel; Harry R. Cromwell; Arthur Russell; Fred Samuels; S. A. Van Ormer; George Biser; Frank Lawrence and J. N. Minnich.

Maiden Lady Badly Scared

At a residence on John Street, there are several ladies somewhat past marriageable age. There is also, residing in the household, a black cat. Some days ago one went to the chicken coop, at the rear of the lot, to gather the eggs. On one of the nests she found a hen. Reaching under the fowl to pluck the hen fruit, she was scared half to death, to receive a severe scratch on the hand. The hen got scared and jumped from the nest, and when the lady recovered from the shock, she found that the cat was in the nest, and like the dog in the manger, did not want to be disturbed when the hen wanted to lay an egg. She was not so ill-mannered as the dog, however, for she lay still and permitted the hen to sit on top of her.

What Is Cabotage?

In a recent "general information test" conducted by the Mann's Choice school, one of the questions was: "What is cabotage?" The correct answer is that cabotage is the coastwise shipping trade, but one boy answered: "Cabotage is a term applied to the actions of those Senators who are trying to belittle President Wilson's League of Nations." This answer puzzled the teacher, so she called the boy up and asked him where he got his information. "I never heard of the word," replied the boy, "but I thought it must have something to do with the fight in the Senate, because it seemed to be named after Senator Henry Cabot Lodge."

It makes a woman happy for her to say "I told you so."

COFFEE TIED UP BY BRAZIL GOVERNMENT; BIG QUANTITY STORED

Prohibition Has Nothing to Do
With Prices, Says Dealer—
Even Churches Used As Warehouses.

The high price of coffee is in no way due to the prohibition amendment to the constitution, according to a statement made by a local merchant yesterday. His statement follows:

The prohibition amendment has been blamed for many things for which it is not guilty. Recently it has been blamed for the high price of coffee. They are saying that the people are anticipating their wants on account of the country going dry and that has created this abnormal demand and has been the cause of the raise in prices. Such is not the case at all and the amendment has no more to do with it than it has with the spring going dry in the summer.

The normal price of No. 7 coffee, which is very often coated to cover its bad grains and which ordinarily is placed in the average packages, costs anywhere from 6 to 8 cents, green. At present it is costing 15-1-2 cents to 17-1-2 cents, and if sold on the same basis of profits as it was when the prices were normal, ordinary coffee would be selling at 40 to 45 cents per pound. But the raise has been so fast and heavy the grocer is handling it as a much closer margin in hopes that the combine will soon fail!

Tied up in Brazil.

The story is this: The crops this year were larger than usual. Brazil, from where most of our coffee comes, thought they saw a chance, expecting that when the war was over, Europe would make abnormal demands, from which the Brazilian government would realize large profits. Consequently, the government itself has bought up all the coffee from the growers and all buildings in Brazil are carrying large stocks. In some instances, we understand, they are even using churches for storage houses.

The position is this: Europe has no money to buy. American buyers, knowing the situation are buying from hand to mouth and if the buying public will economize for a short time in their purchases, there is no question but that the lumps will come. But if buying is heavy and the public gets excited, Brazil will be able to maintain their position and prices, which eventually will reach 40 to 45 cents for standard brands. So buy only actual needs.

SUPPRESS AMERICAN BOLSHEVIKI

People Do Not Realize the Attempt to Poison Our Institutions and Overthrow
Our Form of Government

All good citizens must view with disgust and some alarm the actions of that class of people who at the present time are advocating ideas which if carried out would mean a complete overthrow of our form of government.

These traitors—for such they are—are generally known by the name of the American Bolsheviks, and consist mostly of foreigners and some native born Americans.

They emulate the work of their fellow Bolsheviks in Russia, who are actually against every thing that is right and decent.

To attempt to describe the work of the Bolsheviks in Russia, would simply mean the French "Reign of Terror" multiplied by at least fifteen times, if the number of victims is taken as a criterion.

In many other respects it is far worse than the reign of terror that existed in France at the end of the eighteenth century.

The Bolshevik decree which nationalized the women of Russia was one of the foulest deeds ever perpetrated against woman and humanity.

Yet these same Russian Bolsheviks are conducting an extensive propaganda by various agencies, in an effort to overthrow our government.

Of course, in our immediate vicinity we do not hear of much that is going on, because the greatest efforts are naturally being made in the great centers of population and industry where the foreign element is something to be considered.

In discussing a remedy for Bolshevism in this country there is but one way of treatment, which in the case of foreigners should be sudden deportation and in the case of native Americans—the firing squad.

When the history of these foreign agitators is reviewed it has been found that most of them are of that class, who even if they had taken out first naturalization papers at the time we declared war on Germany immediately renounced their declared allegiance to this country and become aliens again. This was done to escape the draft.

Then while our boys went over and fought to make the world a decent place to live in, these aliens kept their old jobs, and in many instances took jobs of boys who went overseas; lived in peace and comfort; were not expected to subscribe to Liberty Loans, Red Cross, and various other war contributions.

Now then they attempt to destroy our government. We should put down the bars against immigration for at least ten years, until we dispose of this mass of undigested humanity that we have in our midst. Heretofore our government had no policy of attempting to Americanize immigrants, but steps should be taken to see that in the future when immigrants are admitted they should be put on probation, so to speak, with the ultimate object of making Americans of them and not letting them to their own devices in this matter.

In other words, let them become one hundred per cent Americans in a certain defined time or go back to the country from which they came. America is the land of freedom and thought, but we demand that those who seek this country as a haven, stay within the limits of modern civilization in their actions.

Nothing is too severe for those who are now seeking to destroy our government. Deport them; exterminate them; but let us rid ourselves of this menace.

Our government must prevail.

The Victory Liberty Loan

The Victory Liberty Loan opens on April 21, and the canvass will last for three weeks. It will end Saturday May 10.

It is understood that this will be the last loan campaign undertaken by the Government.

The amount of the loan and the rate of interest have not yet been definitely decided, but the loan will take the form of notes of the United States, maturing in not over five years from the date of issue. They will be issued both in registered and coupon form. Short term notes were decided upon because it was thought that they would maintain a price at about par after the campaign is concluded far more readily than would a longer term issue.

The American people are again asked to give their support to their government so that this great loan will be a success by the widest possible distribution.

George Minstead, of Dixon, Ky. sold a Plymouth Rock hen for $1.95. She weighed 9 pounds. Here she would have sold for $2.88. She must have been some "peep."

THE FARMER'S TROUBLES.

Some writers say the daylight saving plan is of great advantage; others say it is no advantage; others say it is a great hardship to them. I am a farmer, and to me it is the greatest nuisance that has sprung up during the war. I have been in my field with hands during a busy season, and about the middle of the afternoon we would hear the whistle blow and in a few minutes see the hands going home, coats under their arms. Sometimes they would shout at my men waving their hands toward their homes as if to say: "Come on; you have done enough; it is time to quit!" Now any reasonable man would almost be ashamed of himself to have a business which would compel him work his men longer and pay less wages than his neighbor would with another business; but how can he do better?

The farmer is handicapped more than any other business man. The fertilizer, machinery and barrel men are all demanding high prices, and the farmer must buy regardless of cost. He goes to the country store (or to the city, if he likes), and he always asks: "What is your price?"

And he pays it or doesn't get what he needs. But when he sells something it is different. He carries a load of corn to the mill. The miller looks at it: "Oh, that corn is O. K. I will give you so-and-so for it." The farmer says: "I can't take that." "Well, I don't want it." The farmer takes the miller's price or carries his corn home. He ships a load of potatoes. The commission man sells them, takes out the freight, cartage, and commission, and the farmer gets a little. If he sells them at the station he takes what the buyer offers. He always gives what the other man charges, and takes what the other man gives.

So you see the farmer is handicapped all the time. Now, the Government and city people want the produce (and in fact all the farmer raises) reduced in price. Labor has more than doubled, guano has trebled, freight has more than doubled, taxes have doubled. Now, let this thing go on a few years and you will see one of the greatest walkouts this country ever knew. Farmers will be looking for this glorious daylight-saving time of eight hours per day instead of 14, which many average during the hot summer time.

Maine farmers value their sheep higher when they are killed by dogs than when they band their valuation to assessors. The average price paid per sheep killed by dogs was, for 1917, $10.27 while the average valuation handed to assessors under oath was only $1.50, a difference of $8.77. Such enormous difference might encourage harboring the dogs that kill.

N. C. Schaeffer Passes Away

The head of the Pennsylvania public school system, Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, died last Saturday night at his home in Lancaster after a stroke of a week or so previous. He was a Reformed ordained minister and was educated in this state and in Germany. He was a great man profound in scholarship, unswerving in principle and tactful in executive ability. He was appointed State Superintendent of Public Instruction in 1893 by Governor Pattison and has held the place with marked distinction since. He was a forceful lecturer and an author on pedagogy and on moral subjects. His places of distinction are numerous. He has served at the head of many educational organizations. These positions brought him an abundance of labor yet he lived to be 70 years old before death overtook him. Numerous educators are endeavoring to fill his place among them being George Bortz, Dr. George Phillips, C. C. Ellis, J. Linwood Bensch, P. M. Harbold, Chas. Loss, Samuel Hamilton.

LINCOLN'S DESPOTISM.

The New York Tribune of course is shocked at the despotism of Mr. Wilson in undertaking to govern the country without calling a special session of Congress to do it for him. It may mitigate The Tribune's alarm to recall what it has evidently forgotten, that Abraham Lincoln was guilty of the same sort of despotism.

The Tribune knows of several precedents for the usurpation of Mr. Wilson, but it apparently knows nothing of the nearest one and the only one that is at all pertinent. It says in its most learned and impressive manner:

The experiment of the President in seeking to rule without Parliament is doubtless well meant, but will not succeed in a noisy and vociferous democracy. If Charles I could not make the plan work, if Louis XVI could not make it work when he drove the National Assembly to meet in the Tennis Court, if the Czar could not make it work in Russia when he attempted to dissolve the Duma, just before the revolution, it cannot be made to work in America.

But Abraham Lincoln made it work in America. The fact that Horace Greeley has been dead for many years scarcely excuses the ignorance of The Tribune.

Mr. Lincoln became President on March 4. Six weeks later Fort Sumter was bombarded and evacuated. But Congress was not called to meet till July 4. Mr. Lincoln was confronted by war, civil war, but he felt no need of Congress to tell him what to do, or to denounce him for what he did, or to obstruct him in the performance of his constitutional duties.

Between Sumter and his call for an extra session of Congress he called for 775,000 militia to assist him in enforcing the laws of the United States. They were armed and equipped and sent into active service against the enemy. Later when the strength of the Southern resistance to the authority of the Government of the United States had developed more fully, he called for 64,000 soldiers and 18,000 sailors to serve in the regular army and navy for three years. Battles were fought, and the war was in full operation before the President called Congress together. Is the Tribune answered?

The Price of Defeat

The Newark Ledger gives the election expenses of a Georgia man who was defeated for County Commissioner in the recent primary. His sworn statement is as follows:

Lost 1349 hours sleep thinking about the election. Lost two front teeth and a whole lot of hair in an encounter with an opponent. Donated one beef, four shoats, and five sheep to a county barbecue. Gave away two pairs suspenders, four calico dresses, five dollars cash, and thirteen baby rattles, kissed 126 babies, kindled fourteen kitchen fires, put up four stoves, walked 4076 miles, shook hands with 9508 persons, told 10,101 lies, and talked enough to make, in print 1000 volumes; attended sixteen revival meetings, and was baptized four different times by immersion and twice some other way, contributed $50 to foreign missions, made love to nine grass widows, hugged forty nine old maids, got dog-bit thirty nine times and was defeated.

From Hand To Hand

Nothing could happen that will help a community that will not help all the people in it, is the substance of a conversation overheard the other evening. What a world of truth in it! Dollars are not all that make a prosperous community, but they make a most excellent foundation. When they begin flowing into a community, the entire community is benefited, because they pass from one to another. And so it is with every good movement and act. They flow from hand to hand radiating as they go, until all have been helped.

12,000,000 Women Are Eligible to Vote for the Next President

Mrs. Catt Calls Meeting to Organize Them Nationally--More Uniform Laws Desirable.

More than 12,000,000 women in the United States over 21 years of age are eligible to vote for the next president in 23 states where women may vote, according to an estimate by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage association and president of the International Suffrage alliance.

This estimate was given in a call to the women voters of the United States to join forces with the National American Woman Suffrage association at its golden jubilee convention to be held in St. Louis, March 24-29. Fifty delegates from each voting state are invited to join the delegations at St. Louis from the 2,000,000 members of the National American Woman Suffrage association.

"The National American Woman Suffrage association has invited women voters to a national convention in order that they may organize nationally and unite their forces with those of other lands," said Mrs. Catt.

"There is an obviously important national program for women voters. The great diversity of laws which concern women and children in our several states is a continual menace to the safety and welfare of the unfortunate and uninformed."

"The laws of the states could be unified and improvements added even in the states more liberal in their laws, if women voters would agree upon a proper constructive program. It is a fact so obvious that it needs no demonstration that if one section of the country is much behind the times in education and legal protection to women and children its civilization is bound to prove a deterrent influence over the whole nation. Therefore, it becomes the duty of all forward looking people to see that the laws of the whole nation are unified and that the standard by which to measure the proper program for each state is the code of laws of the most advanced states."

"Women voters should contribute more to their nation and to the world than they do when acting for a localized viewpoint. Those who live in the valley do not know what it is to be seen from the mountain top. The opportunity to climb the mountain and to view all humanity in its struggle upward toward permanent democratic institutions and consequent permanent peace is here. The opportunity to extend a helping hand to those who are likely to find the path rough and thorny. The woman voter with the vision of coming freedom for the race in her soul will not hesitate to offer her service," continued Mrs. Catt.

The biggest bureau of suffrage propaganda in the world has been organized by Mrs. Catt with funds she was bequeathed by Mrs. Frank Leslie, widow of the widely known editor and publisher. When Mrs. Leslie died a few years ago she left the bulk of her fortune to Mrs. Catt to be used for the advancement of the suffrage cause.

The actual figures are in the neighborhood of $750,000.

Mrs. Catt, who has an abiding faith that the only reason anybody opposes woman suffrage is because of lack of knowledge of its fundamental significance, decided that the most effective way to advance the suffrage cause was through the further education of the entire public on the subject of suffrage.

She formed the Leslie woman suffrage commission, the members of which were to serve with her in the supervision of the expenditure of the Leslie fund. On the commission are: Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the National Woman's Trade Union league; Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, former president of the General Federation of Women's clubs; Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the Woman's Suffrage party of New York city; Mrs. Arthur Livermore, and Mrs. Thomas Bucklin Wells.

VENTILATION

No matter what the physicians of the day do not know nor did not learn through the late epidemic of influenza, they did learn the necessity, as was never before manifested, the great value of ventilation. It seems preposterous that the human race should starve itself for the most vital necessity, given to it absolutely free, in an unadulterated form. People, without giving the matter a single thought, will pen themselves up into small rooms, windows closed, remaining there for hours, then wonder why they catch colds, get headache and feel depressed.

They would be far better off if they were to give themselves all the air they need and cut out part of the food they eat. Schools, churches and places where any public meetings are held, should receive the attention of those who know what ventilation is.

Something
Should be Done

With the memory still fresh in the minds of our people, of the big demonstration given each contingent "leaving home" to give their lives, if necessary for freedom's cause, there comes, no small, number of comments, why not "welcome home" is planned for our brave boys. Surely when most every village or hamlet can make some arrangements to prove to the home coming soldiers that their sacrifices were appreciated by their town folks, Bedford will not fall short. With discharged boys coming into their home town every day, and now the glorious news of the famous twenty-eighth division, of which a large part of our boys are members. It is high time some plans are formed to give them the proper welcome home. Attend the meeting in the court house tomorrow.

Farming Must be Made Attractive

Statistics tell us that there are thousands of abandoned farms in Pennsylvania. Most of the abandoned farms are equipped with habitable buildings, good water and fruit. All that is needed is a tenant, with enough money to obtain a little stock and a few implements, and add to them grit and elbow grease, and the result is a properly tenanted farm.

But where are you going to find this combination? The average town man cannot farm. If he can, and is out of a job, he has no money, even to move into the country. If he is even that well fixed, perhaps his family objects. And there you are. It is possible also, that were we to see a majority of the abandoned farms, we would not wonder that they were abandoned.

It is too bad that so many men have been lured by the white lights of the cities, to live in regret for years afterward, but it is the way of the world. Farming must be made attractive.

Common School Examinations

For admission to the examination for common school graduation pupils must send a written application signed by the proper teacher to the office of the County Superintendent on or before March 25, 1919. Since the schools of the County close irregularly as to time, each applicant should be careful to state the approximate date when his or her school will close.

Diplomas will be granted to those who pass the examination provided they are fifteen years of age or over. Diplomas will not be granted to pupils under fifteen years of age. The age of the pupil must be stated in the application.

All pupils residing in school districts in which no public high schools are maintained and who desire to enter a high school in the fall of 1919 will make application at this time. In such cases the pupil should state in his application the high school which he expects to attend.

The applicant will be examined in the following subjects, viz: Reading, writing, spelling, written arithmetic, mental arithmetic, English grammar, geography, history of United States and physiology.

Teachers should not recommend pupils for examination who have not a reasonable chance of passing it. Great care should be exercised in making recommendations.

The places and dates of holding this examination will be announced later.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD
IN 1919

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the world war, and a mighty army of ours is already in France fighting great battles and winning magnificent victories. You will want to have all the news from our troops on European battlefields, and 1919 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe.

No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE BEDFORD GAZETTE together for one year for $2.25.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.50.

Colds caused by cats and dogs is the belief of many specialists. They have found cases where women have contracted distemper from fondling dogs and children have been known to contract animal diseases from sneezing or their pets in their faces. So beware!

CAN MR. WILSON BECOME

hold championship of the rights of the common man, but they pay tribute to him as the elected executive of a nation that saved Europe from disaster in 1918. They applaud the United States of America when they applaud Mr. Wilson, for he carries the symbols of power.

Reactionaries Will Cut Small Figure. Notwithstanding the fact that the senate is to be composed of a hostile political party, the fact that, as president, Mr. Wilson is given by the Constitution of the United States the right to conduct the foreign policy of the country and to negotiate treaties makes him the ambassador of the United States, and as such he is given the same respectful attention as any other ambassador when he says to a foreign power: "My government instructs me to approve or disapprove," etc. Mr. Wilson is the government of the United States so far as foreign premiers are concerned. And my conversations with some of the principal delegates in Paris lead me to conclude that in the immediate future European statesmen will continue to deal with President Wilson as the head of the American government and they will not take seriously the notion that a treaty signed by the president and the American mission to negotiate peace and the governments of Europe and Asia will ever be rejected by a single body of legislators in the United States.

Days Of Less

Meatless, heatless, wheatless are days of the past; but the thrift born of them is with us to stay.

To demand the utmost for a dollar is one great lesson the world has learned. Along with other days of less, it has cancelled days of less service.

Service has always been the Goodrich measure of the value of tires; that is, what a tire proves itself worth you in service on your car, and on the road.

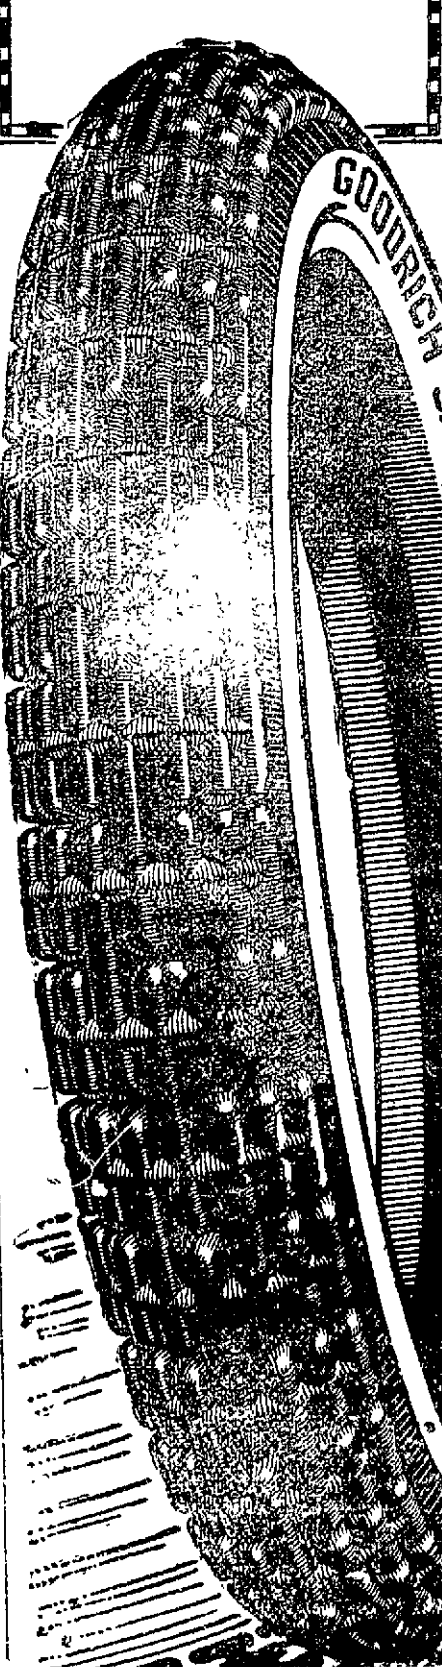

You see promise of service in the burly, full founded bodies of Goodrich Service Value Tires; and their thicker SAFETY TREADS, extra wide to fortify the sidewall against rut grinding.

You get fulfillment of promised service value in their dependability and durability wherever you take them.

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

Good Habits of Living

In a statement given out from Washington, it is said that our army is coming back from Europe eighteen thousand tons heavier than when it sailed overseas. It is also stated that this is due largely to the seemingly limitless flow of wholesome foods directed into the training camps and to France. There were other things that helped make these young American huskier men.

Right habits of living would do the same thing for any man at home who would be content to work a reasonable number of hours, sleep a reasonable number and be content to eat three good meals, a day and spend his spare time in study and wholesome recreation such as was provided for the overseas men.

WARNING TO TIGER- RIDING SENATORS.

It was on the golf links at Sea Girt, during the Presidential campaign, that Governor Wilson, of New Jersey, recited for a newspaper man a Limerick that is worth repeating for the benefit of entertainment of some big men in our national Senate. It runs something like this:

O There was a young lady of
O Niger
O Who went out for a ride on a
O tiger;
O They returned from the ride
O With the lady inside,
O And a smile on the face of the
O tiger.

In Africa on their Bills if Fare they have caterpillars and moths; In China they serve pupae of the silkworm; ants, alive and roasted, are prepared and even in Maine it is said the lumbermen enjoy an occasional meal of large wood ants. That's coming close home so look out this summer. They eat the beetle in Peru, Java, Turkey. In Central America the eggs of bugs are made into cakes to eat and Mexicans make a strong drink by soaking a tiger beetle in alcohol. We are wondering if we will eventually have a real "Bug House" here and if this bug juice ever reaches America.

Arthur Dahlquist, of Kansas, was in the Argentine fight for two hours, was wounded 13 times and carried to an emergency hospital disgruntled. Some pluck.

Heat ALL Your House THROUGH ONE REGISTER

Yes, it's just as possible in your home as it has been in fifty thousand others. You, too, may have every room comfortable with balmy healthful heat, reaching every corner by Nature's method of circulation—and all through only one register! It isn't necessary to clutter up your house with pipes, overheat your cellar and incur big bills—not when you can get the

CALORIC
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

It can be set up in a day, without inconvenience to you, and will make your home so comfortable in the severest winter weather you will be well repaid.

Your house will be uniformly warm; your cellar will be just right for the storage of fruits and vegetables. Your fuel bill will be less than with stoves that heat only a part of your house.

HERE ARE THE REASONS

The Caloric is the Original Patented Pipeless Furnace—the result of the study of competent engineers to solve the heating problem in the most satisfactory way. That they have succeeded is proved by the fact that the number of Calorics sold on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction is three times greater than any other pipeless furnace.

The cause of this satisfaction lies in the patented and exclusive principles that distinguish the Caloric from all others. It is not a pipe furnace provided with an extra casing, but a complete revolution in furnace building designed exclusively for pipeless heating.

Come In And See Us

We will show you what these principles are, and you will then see what Caloric quality means, why it always succeeds and why imitations cannot accomplish the same results. Then you will be in no danger of buying an inferior article, with all its disappointment in later months. Get a copy of the book "Progress," which tells the fact about pipeless heating. If you can't come in, write for it.

"Your Nose Knows"

All smoking tobaccos use some flavoring. The Encyclopaedia Britannica says about the manufacture of smoking tobacco, "... on the Continent and in America certain 'sauces' are employed ... the use of the 'sauces' is to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves."

Tuxedo uses chocolate—the purest, most wholesome and delicious of all flavorings! Everybody likes chocolate—we all know that chocolate added to anything as a flavoring always makes that thing still more enjoyable. That is why a dash of chocolate, added to the most carefully selected and properly aged burley tobacco, makes Tuxedo more enjoyable.

"Your Nose Knows"

Try This Test: Rub a little Tuxedo briskly in the palm of your hand to bring out its full aroma. Then smell it deep—its delicious, pure fragrance will convince you. Try this test with any other tobacco and we will let Tuxedo stand or fall on your judgment—

Burned at Everett

While kindling a fire at her home in Everett about 2 o'clock, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Daniel Sleighter sus- tained burns following an explosion of coal oil that resulted in her death ing taken to the Roaring Spring several hours later while she was be- hospital for treatment. A one month infant asleep in the cradle by the side of the stove was cremated by the blaze which totally destroyed the Sleighter home and its contents. No sign of the babe had been found.
Another son, aged four years, was carried to safety by a neighbor through a window, both sustaining slight burns. Mrs. Sleighter an da- hired girl were in the house besides the children when the oil the woman was pouring on a supposedly dead fire ignited her clothing. The woman was terribly burned from her ankles to her chin. Her face was only slightly scorched, but the flesh and skin were burnt off other parts of her body, and from the first physicians held out no hope of her recovery, al- though an effort was made to get her to the hospital after an Everett doctor had administered first aid treatment. The domestic was only slightly burned while carrying her mistress from the home. The woman died at Woodbury on the way to the hospital, and when Roaring Spring was reached the remains were turned over to Undertaker Grant Hite for preparation for burial. The body was shipped to Fishertown in charge of the bereaved husband, and inter- ment will be made there today or to- morrow.
The Sleighter family had just moved to Everett two weeks ago and had been settled comfortably when the home was destroyed. Mr. Sleighter who is employed as foreman of track- men on the Pennsylvania railroad at Everett was absent from home, when the fire occurred and did not arrive until the flames had made a clean sweep and claimed two lives. Besides her husband and son, the woman is survived by her father and mother and several brothers and sisters.

War Gass
to be Used in Peace Times

One of the interesting develop- ments of the late war is the proba- bility of the use of the harmless war gases in peace times to disperse mobs and crowds bent upon destruc- tion.
These gases are likely to be used as offensive weapons of the law. The gases to which reference is made are the lacrymators—tear producing—and the sneeze producing gases.
Our government has perfected highly efficient gases of each sort which leave no harmful effects.
Such a method of dispersing a mob would be the most effective and the least harmful and would cer- tainly give the individuals something elst to do—something which they would have to do—at the same time preventing them from carrying out their original intention.
Then we have gases which might be turned on a mob, gases that would temporarily incapacitate an individual without doing him any harm.
These gases will reach where wa- ter cannot penetrate and the effect is for a longer period, and we confi- dently believe that this method of handling mobs is not far distant.

German Delegates
Barred From Paris

It is worthy of note that the French have decided to keep the German delegates out of Paris when the time for signing the peace treaty arrives. The German delegates will be kept in one of the palaces at Ver- sailles which is about ten miles from Paris, as the French government will not undertake to give protection to Germans in Paris where the feeling is so high against them.
The German signatories will not actually be prisoners and will not be treated as such, but they will in a sense be confined, and will not go to Paris.
This is as it should be. No German should be allowed to go to Paris Not that we have in mind the safety of the Germans. Oh, no! But that since it was their one goal, and one of their greatest ambitions, for that reason alone Germans of this gen- eration should be forever barred from Paris.

NON-POLITICAL
No public official ever gets very far with his constituents unless he plays fair. He must fulfill the promises made in his platform, if any, and taking the people into his confidence, tell them the absolute truth. What if our present board of county commissioners, after running on a platform for to build a bridge across the creek at Juliana street had, upon elec- tion, refused to consider the proposition? Governor Sproul is ousting every man in public office in the state, placed in such position by his predecessor yet the reporters at the state capital tell us the appointments are "non-political."
On the surface this is not true. There is some common sense in the old Jacksonian theory, that to the victors be- long the spoils, but when that rule is followed, it does the public no good to be fooled about it.

Russians marriages are spliced by Russian farmers in Russia. No wonder Russia is not christianized. They take the chicken out of the mouths of the preachers.
Heat expands and cold contracts, which explains the long days in summer and short days in winter.
